

ASTONE

Introducing Astone a New Brand;

Astone is distributed by the Achieva Technology Group; a brand which offers a wide range of lifestyle products incorporating technologies from leading brands in communications and consumer electronics.

Astone whilst new to the market is set to take on markets in Europe, South East Asia & the US offering an array of offerings from home & office PCs, portable technologies such as notebooks, MP3 players and digital media products including flash memory, SD cards and memory card readers.

Astone embraces new & innovative consumer technologies. Aside from its innovative & cutting-edge products, Astone offers high quality products without the price tag. Making technology affordable for consumers to uptake.

As a new brand, Astone has already won many Awards for its notebook range, including the prestigious PC Authority Recommended award in February 2004. Darren Ellis, Technical Editor on PC Authority described the Astone as "a well priced, solid, competently configured & good looking notebook."

Other products Astone offers are MP3 players, Digital flash media, as well as video & imaging solutions, so look out for the full Astone range launching at a store near you.

Astone is now available in Singapore and if you are interested to include these in your product line, please refer to the following contact details.
